

An alum's first real-life game

NOT FL

Once upon a time, a student graduated. It was a bright, sunny day as the alum took graduation photos outside McCord Hall, in front of Palm Walk, and sitting next to the "Spirit" sculpture. Then, to everyone's surprise, the alum left and was no longer at ASU...

"A lost alum is so distressing," says Dean Amy Hillman. Learning experiences, business opportunities, and future collaborations are absent without them.

All of W. P. Carey Land is ready to welcome alumni back to campus. You can help, too, by making your own forward progress on the W. P. Carey Land path.
